PLAINT, DROPS, TUBERCLES AND SALT ACIDITY, WOMEN, GOITRE, NEURALGIA, AS A DINNER PILLS, AND PURGATIVES THE BLOOD, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how pleasant and safe they are. They are such and so pleasant to take, but so powerful too. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they subvert the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. These Pills are the work of the most eminent chemists and the best physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens. They have been long and extensively used, and have produced the most extraordinary and of great benefits they have ever known from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take;

In England thirty-nine per cent. of the population are married, in Ireland thirty five per cent., and in Germany only nineteen per cent.

Country boys in England average an inch and a quarter more in height and seven pounds more in weight than city boys.

The friends of a Boston lady telegraphed from Paris that she was "so worse," and the cable said "so more." It was mourned as need for nearly two days.

An exchange remarks that it is wonderful to see how exact a line a man can draw with his shovel, on a snowy morning between his own promises and his next door neighbor's.

The United States commissioner of Indian affairs wants Congress to give him an appropriation of $100,000 to send a large delegation of our aborigines to the Centennial exposition.

The world is a looking glass and gives back to every man the reflection of his own character. Give him a smile and it will turn back sunny upon you; laugh at it, and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion.

Much distress still prevails among the laboring classes in Canada. Over 1,000 men, all heads of families, have applied for work on the improvements of the Lac Seul canal, where only 100 men will be employed.

A young person, describing the looks of a newly arrived M. C. from the far West, as he appeared at the Washington Club, says: "He was a tall, thin fellow, came all the way across the continent on the hurricane deck of a mule."

In Manchester, England, two fine horses attached to a brougham took fire from the wheels of a street car, jumped down, and forced their way to the middle of the room. They were badly cut, and the damage altogether is estimated at $200 to $300.

At Logansport, Ind., while several children were playing together, the four-year-old daughter of Eliza Wagner thrust her tongue through the crack of a door, and her mother, which one of her playmates instantly slammed to, cutting off nearly one half of the member.

An editor received the following: "Dear Sir—I have looked carefully and patiently over your paper for six months for the death of some individual I was acquainted with, but as you might not know, I care anything, and have dropped off. You will please have them erased."

A Chinaman in San Francisco was rudely pushed into the mud from a stage crossing by an American. He picked himself up very calmly, shook off some of the mud, bowed very politely, and said, with a mild, reproving tone to the offender "You Christian, me heathen; good-bye!"

When the sultan of Turkey goes to the opera he is followed by servants, bearing a load of bottles. This is not a bad thing. When one of our young men goes to the theater or opera they should be followed by servants bearing a keg of beer. This would obviate the necessity of any of our young men, between the acts to get a clove to chew.

It may be laid down as a safe rule that you should always know whom you are marrying. A Cincinnati man married a woman the other day of whom he knew nothing except that she was a Jewess, and he is not sure that she did not like him, so she has since left for parts unknown, taking with her all the household goods, including even her husband's Person with cold in his head to person opposite (referring to open window in railroad car): "Say, wid you shud up that 'widow'?" Middle-aged woman in weeds, who had been talking for the last half hour, turning around indignantly: "What do you mean, sir? It is a pretty how-de do when a woman can't open her mouth! I'll have you to know you can't shut me up!"

A case that puzzled a London magistrate was that of a woman who had assaulted her husband with an ax. If he sent her to prison, the husband would have to hire somebody to care for her children while she was incarcerated. For the sake of her, he ordered her to pay the sum. If he put her under bonds to keep the peace, the husband would be responsible. She was discharged with an admonition.

He was a Washington boy, and, we are sorry to say, it was his first visit to church. As he came down the steps, the little fellow that had accompanied him asked: "Bill, how'd you like it?" "Putty good," was the reply. "Twasn't good as Buflor Bill, but I tell yer, Sam, I was sorry for that feller." "Sorry for him; why?" "Why, he cum out there, dun 'tail by nisself, and didn't get nary clap."

A Toothache Remedy.

Dr. Duckworth, of St. Bartholomew's hospital, London, has recently successfully used bicarbonate of soda as a

Applications of chloroform, either externally to the cheek or to the ear, or placed on cotton in the decayed tooth, failed; and when carbolic acid, applied as last mentioned, was used, the result was the same. Plodgets of cotton, soaked in a solution of thirty grains of bicarbonate of soda in one fluid ounce of water, gave almost instant relief. Dr. Duckworth considers that the very first thing to be done is to get to the contract of acid saliva with the decayed tooth; and therefore it is important, in cases of odontalgia, first to deacidify the mouth, and then to have the reaction. If this be the case, then a simple alkaline application, as above stated, is the most efficacious means of cure.

Cases of toothache are such common accompaniments to disordered stomach that there seems every reason for the truth of the above author's conjecture. The alkalies on the one group, and the efficacy of ammonia on the frequently recommended, but which, if applied carelessly, is liable to produce more pain by burning the gum than already exists in the tooth.

Bicarbonate of soda is found in every kitchen, and hence no more handy remedy could be devised, while it is destitute of any painful effects; and the abundance of it in the household is a simplicity make no wonder why it has not been thought of before.

AYER's Cherry Pectoral
 For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and CONSUMPTION.

The few competitors which have won the confidence of mankind and more than doubled the number of sales among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues, — and this Cherry Pectoral is certainly no exception. It is so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been known to the public more than forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It is made of the most essential cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has relieved these dangerous diseases of the medical, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. — Every family should have a bottle of this Cherry Pectoral, and procure relief of its members. Whooping, cough, and even leprosy is saved by this timely preparation. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you, and the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Commissioner's Notice.
 To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners for the County of Norfolk.

THU underlined, residents and non-residents of the County of Norfolk, to wit: Charles W. Smith, Scituate and Hull, in the County of Plymouth, respectfully represent that the public convenience and the interests of the County of Norfolk require that a new road be laid out and constructed, commencing on the north-west side of North Main street, nearly opposite the northerly end of King street, in said Cohasset, the northerly end of the road, and extending easterly over land of James McCormick and Lincoln Pratt and others to Jerusalem street, at stake near and between the dwelling houses of Washington Brown and Fanny Brown, so that said road will connect with street near and west of Black Rock House, in Cohasset.

Your petitioners would therefore ask your Honors to view the premises above described, and locate and construct said road from the northerly end of King street to Jerusalem street, according to the law in such case made and provided.

BEZIA BROWN, and 118 others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
 NORFOLK, ss. At a meeting of the County Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham, within and for the County of Norfolk, on the twenty-first day of January, A. D. 1876, by adjournment of the December meeting next preceding.

On the Petition aforesaid, Ordered, that the County Commissioners will meet at the Town Hall in Cohasset, in said County, on TUESDAY, the second day of May, A. D. 1876, at seven o'clock A. M., and there they shall proceed to view the premises so said petition, and hear and act upon the same.

And petition, and heard and act upon the same, with this order thereon, be served upon the Clerk of the County of Norfolk, thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a like copy of the petition be published three weeks successively in the Norfolk County Gazette, and Weymouth Weekly Gazette, and there be given notice by public notice, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition, may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

Or, an incurable lung disease is often the result.

Brown's Bronchial Troches,
 Having a direct influence on the parts, give immediate relief. For Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Consumptive and Throat Diseases. TROCHES are used with always good success.

THE REMARKABLE PROPERTIES OF
Brown's Bronchial Troches,
 have been thoroughly tested since first introduced. The demand for them has steadily increased, and purely upon their merits.

ASTHMA OR PHTHISIS.—A spasmodic affection of the bronchial tubes, which begins with a dry tenacious phlegm. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," in some cases give immediate relief. If not of long standing, persevere with them—they will prove very efficacious in this troublesome complaint.

CATARRH.—A form of CHRONIC THROAT DISEASE consisting of inflammation, which extends beyond and a little above the palate, and begins up to the nose. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have proved very efficacious in this troublesome complaint.

SINGERS and PUBLIC SPEAKERS will find Troches useful in clearing the voice when taken before singing or speaking and relieving the throat after an unusual exertion of the vocal organs.

OWING to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches, many worthless imitations are offered.

Weymouth, March 28, 1876. MR. EDITOR:—I notice, in your issue of the 27th inst., a communication from J. W. A. in which he brings up, as far as I can see, nothing new in regard to the subject under discussion, but seems to ignore the real question entirely and expends his energies in criticizing my lack of good taste in bringing, or attempting to bring, this matter before the public. It seems to me that his great mistake is in persisting in making this a personal affair. I have made no complaint at all in regard to the connection of my children with the school. I have not said in either of my previous articles that I "was aggrieved or dissatisfied" with the Grammar School teachers in this place. On the contrary I have spoken in high terms of them and stated particularly that my object in writing was to criticize the system and not the individuals carrying it out.

In regard to bringing this subject before the teachers or the School Committee, in preference to making it public, I would say that the evil of which I complain is not confined to any one teacher or school but is much more general. As I said in my first article "the Grammar School" in this place is no worse than other schools that I know of, but I only happen to know more about it. It is not a town affair merely but is still more wide-spread and I consider that a subject involving the interests of every parent in the community is a public matter, and so I think that our common school system, being a democratic institution, born of, and nurtured by the people, is a subject that need not be consigned to a "Committee," but belongs to the people and can be discussed openly, and I have confidence in the verdict which the public will render upon it.

If I have erred, in speaking through the columns of a public journal, I certainly can have the comfort of being in good company, for, since the first article appeared in the Gazette on this subject, a writer of acknowledged eminence—one of the most influential and popular clergyman of Boston—in a highly respectable public journal, has brought a similar subject prominently before the public.

I am asked to explain about "those ten examples." I was not aware before that any explanation was required of me. Had I misstated the circumstances, I should, probably, have felt like J. W. A. the same necessity of explanation. (I should not have attended to this mistake again, inasmuch as my friend had made the amende honorable, had an explanation been requested.) As it was, I simply detailed facts, without distorting them, as far as I know, and I did not, for a moment, think there were any facts in our public schools which would not bear the light.

In regard to the "three unjust features," referred to in aforesaid article, I would ask, 1st, if my statement is not strictly true, that "the age of the scholars varies from ten years (and possibly less) upward." I mentioned the lowest age I knew; I had no means at hand of knowing the age of the eldest. 2d, I spoke of the pupil performing those examples in the evening, simply because many of them had not time to perform them during school-hours and even if they had time some of them required that assistance which they could not well obtain, if at all, in school, so that it seemed to me if they performed them at all they were under the necessity of doing it out of school, although it was the next day's lesson. 3d, In regard to misrepresenting about those examples—some have told me I did not select the most difficult one as the specimen I gave. However, this may be, when I openly stated what they were and where they might be found, and any one whose motive I refer to them at once, with what reason can I be accused of misrepresentation?

In regard to that child of eleven years—"poor thing"—the mother did not say that her poor thing—had the child put into a school of lower grade was peremptorily refused, but that she was so earnestly advised to have her remain where she was that she, against her own good judgment, acquiesced. Is it a question of veracity? I can only affirm what the mother told me, and that without my asking.

And now, Mr. Editor, I trust I am done with explanations; I don't know as I am wise in sending you this article, but as I have seen many instances where I believe individuals were caused suffering and disease by the evil to which I have endeavored to call your attention, I have felt on the whole, it was best to notice this subject and to do it in this public manner, for if it is a subject worthy of consideration, it may induce some thought in the right direction and if not, it will very soon be forgotten.

And while I know you will be only too happy to excuse me from saying anything more, bearing upon the individual views of my friends, whose sentiments and whose character,—I can guess who he is—I respect, I beg the favor of a week corner of the Gazette next week or week after, to say a few more words on "the main question."
